

ALTO TRUMP!

THE PEOPLE’S ASSEMBLY TOOLKIT

INTRODUCTION

Our communities are under attack. The President-elect is an openly racist, nativist demagogue who climbed to victory by stoking fear and hatred of immigrants. This is not the first time we have confronted forces like this. We have faced down Minutemen and vigilantes; dismantled state laws designed to make our lives so miserable we would “self-deport”; defeated racist sheriffs; and disarmed ICE’s deportation dragnet. But the scale and power of the challenges we now face cannot be underestimated. We can meet them only if we match the fear that confronts us with the courage we have learned from our struggles, only if we meet the hate that would destroy us with the love that ties us to our families and communities, and—most importantly—only if we stand together, and organize.

About this toolkit:

In an effort to facilitate more groups across the nation to host their own people’s assembly, as a way to help community members voice their feelings and opinions, to plug in new activists, and strengthen local resistance, we have created this toolkit. Out of this process of popular assemblies, we hope that people will be more engaged in organizing in their local communities, starting at the neighborhood level. We also hope that this process facilitates the creation of demands crafted locality by locality to pressure local elected officials to stand with immigrant communities against hate and xenophobia once the president elect takes office.

- 6:35pm – Goals and Objectives of the Asamblea (see below)
- 6:45pm – Guiding Principles and Community Agreements (see below)
- 6:50pm – Real-Life Examples of what's at Stake
- 7:00pm – Break out into Groups (choose a Working Group)
- 7:15pm – Analysis of the Current Moment (by Working Group)
- 7:45pm – Planning Next Steps (by Working Group)
- 8:30pm – Return to Large Group
- 8:45pm – Moments of Convergence
- 8:55pm – Closing

Objectives

- Capture how people are feeling about the moment
- Brainstorm the way forward
- Create a local plan from today until inauguration day

Guiding Principles

- People directly affected by policy should be involved and central to organizing efforts
- Resistance must be from the bottom up.
- Our work starts at the grassroots in the neighborhoods.
- Do not allow the idea that some deserve more rights than others, all immigrants must be treated with respect.
- Everyone deserves a second chance (We do not throw people with felony convictions under the bus)
- Do not demonize folks who decide to take high-risk/unconventional efforts.
- Everyone has a role to play in the defense and struggle for migrant rights.
- We must resist the normalization of Trump's racism, misogyny, xenophobia and strategy of division.
- We must be there for other communities also affected by Trump's hateful agenda, such as the LGBTQ community, Muslims, African Americans, womxn, the disabled, etc.

Community Agreements

- Be patient and Flexible
- Step up Step Back
- Don't hog the mic
- I-Statements
- Respectful Listening
- Try on the process
- Acknowledge the need for translation (be patient)

MESSAGING GUIDE

- The pace of normalization of Trump’s agenda is alarming: we have to assume that enforcement-only legislation (criminalizing unlawful status, cutting funding of sanctuary localities, massive expansion of 287g etc.) will move very quickly.
- Community groups must be at the center of broad-based coalitions to stop the Trump agenda on immigration, workers rights, criminal justice, women’s rights, etc.. We have until January 20th (Presidential Inauguration) to build locally.
- Across the country, local groups are hosting Popular Assemblies with community members and allied organizations to discuss local plans for resistance, advocacy, to create working-groups, and to create a space for new people to get involved.
- It is crucial to affirm, update and defend policies designed to protect immigrant rights. Now is the time to galvanize support for sanctuary policies.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

- Do not open the door for immigration agents.
- Do not answer the questions of immigration agents. You have the right to remain silent—even if you are detained. You do not need to give your name or identity documents. You have the right to speak with a lawyer.
- Do not lie or show any false documents.
- If you are at work or on the street or in a public place, ask the immigration agent if you are free to go. If the agent says yes, walk away slowly and calmly.
- If you are at home, ask the officer if they have a warrant. A warrant is a paper signed by a judge giving the officer permission to enter your home. The warrant will specify what areas of your home they are allowed to search. If the officer has a warrant, ask them to slip it under the door. Only then should you let them in.

If you or someone you know has been the victim of an immigration raid or hate crime, report it! Call 1-844-878-7801.

NEIGHBORHOOD DEFENSE COMMITTEES

A key goal of the Popular Assembly is to provide a space for community members to plug into local committees to defend the community. The Neighborhood Defense Committees (NDC), or Grassroot Committees (GC), is one of the oldest organizing models adopted by our ancestors and Popular Movements in Latin America. Our black brothers and sisters adopted similar strategies during the civil rights movement in the fight against apartheid and racism, which continue to perpetuate violence against communities of color today.

An effective local committee responds to the specific needs of the community, while providing an avenue for more individuals to participate, take on responsibilities, and develop skills. Whatever you decide to call it, the name and focus of the local committee responds to the political circumstances of the moment and the locality. This type of grassroots organizing is rooted directly in the communities, and neighborhoods in which it exists. Each neighborhood or community should be directly involved in the creation of the NDC and must play a central role in the decision-making process.

The current political climate requires us to directly engage people on a local level, neighborhood by neighborhood, block by block. The moment demands that people's commitment grows and that directly impacted folks are empowered to take active leadership roles.

Principios y Valores de los Comités de Base \(Values and Principles of Grassroots Committees\)

Many of these materials were developed during the SB1070 fight in Arizona, and while some of the information needs to be updated, we believe that these documents can be a useful starting point for many places across the country where there might not be a big movement or organizing infrastructure but where there is willingness and the need to fight. In Los Angeles we are interested in experimenting with the popular assembly-neighborhood defense model because our current circumstances call on us to organize on a deeper and wider level. We must be cautious about relying on federal, state and local institutions for safety. We must instead rely on each other, as a community, to keep each other safe from violence and to create a sustainable infrastructure for self defense.

As a first step, each neighborhood must establish effective safety measures, including dissemination of “know your rights” materials, developing rapid response, and creating avenues for effective communication. While the future is unknown, one thing is clear, that when the community is organized, we can better fight back in conditions of hostility, bigotry and hate.

OTHER RESOURCES

While in some places, there exists an organizing infrastructure where CBOs, non-profit organizations, service providers, grassroots groups, etc. coexist to tackle different issues from different angles, other places might need more resources or guidance.

The following are different resources that might be helpful for grassroots organizations, and people who are not necessarily involved with any organization but want to help, to begin organizing in their own community.
